

BIREME/PAHO/WHO

March.2017

Selected names for the Scientific Committee

Country	Name	Area	Curriculum Vitae
Cuba	Alfonso Sanchez, Ileana	Information Management	Director of Centro Nacional de Información de Ciencias Médicas - Infomed. Specialized in Information Management, Knowledge Management, Network Learning, Virtual Learning Environments, and Training of Human Resources in Health.
Jamaica	Gordon-Strachan, Georgiana Marie	Scientific Research	Director of Mona Office for Research and Innovation. PhD in Biochemistry and Msc in Health Policy Planning and Financing.
Colômbia	Ochoa, Jaider	Education and Knowledge Management	Master in Innovation Science and Technology Management. Librarian, professor and researcher at the University of Antioquia, Microsoft Certified Professional. He has knowledge and experience in the design of information and knowledge management strategies and tools, competitive and strategic intelligence and technological surveillance, and in the implementation of digital repositories, digital information services and initiatives of technological appropriation and development of informational competences. Specialties: Knowledge management, information management, surveillance and strategic intelligence, web content management, scientific communication, repositories and digital libraries, appropriation of ICT and development of informational skills.
México	Oropeza, Carlos	Scientific Communication	Instituto Nacional de Salud Publica of Mexico - Deputy Director of Scientific Communication and Publications. Scientific Editor of Revista Mexicana de Salud Pública

Country	Name	Area	Curriculum Vitae
Brasil	Pacheco, Roberto Carlos dos Santos	Information Technology	Pacheco holds a PhD in Production Engineering at the Universidade Federal de Santa Catarina (UFSC) and professor of the Department of Knowledge Engineering at UFSC. He is a researcher in the areas of e-government, strategic management of information and engineering and knowledge management. He has coordinated several projects in these areas, including the Lattes Platform, the ScienTI Network, the Innovation Portal, the SINAES Portal, the Aquarius Platform, and many others. He is a founder and researcher of the Stela Institute, member of technical and scientific committees (including CAPES, FAPESC, FAPEMIG, IEL, SBGC). His academic work includes more than 480 collaborators with more than 200 publications, software, and technical advisory and scientific-technical cooperation activities. He supervised 30 Master's dissertations and 22 Doctoral theses. He currently participates as a researcher at the Center for Integration Engineering and Knowledge Management at UFSC.
Costa Rica	Tristán, Mario	Scientific Research	Director and CEO of the International Health Central American Institute (IHCAI) Foundation, San José, Costa Rica. Director of Cochrane Central America and Spanish-speaking Caribbean countries. Adjunct Professor, University of Connecticut School of Medicine, Adjunct Professor Off-campus, Harvard School of Medicine. Mario Tristan is involved in the design and publication of Clinical Practice Guidelines in Costa Rica and Central America